Why Queensland

Welcome to the Taste of Queensland 2024 program, highlighting the very best food, beverage and agriculture products Queensland has to offer.

This year we welcome more than 150 international and Australian-based buyers, from 19 markets around the world, who will interact with more than 160 separate Queensland businesses exhibiting their products.

Given our global reputation for quality, the international enthusiasm to attend and engage with Taste of Queensland exhibitors certainly makes sense.

Our natural competitive advantages also make Queensland an attractive option for international buyers.

With three distinct climate zones, Queensland offers not only an incredible variety of foods that reflect our tropical heritage but an unparalleled outdoor lifestyle.

Queensland has more than 140 million hectares of agricultural land – the largest area of any Australian state.

Our state is home to almost half of Australia's beef herd and our farmers produce more than 120 types of fruit and vegetables.

What this means is Queensland is able to produce everything from exotically flavoured beverages to decadent desserts, health-promoting foods, and naturally nutritious snacks – to name just a few.

We hope you enjoy your time in Queensland establishing new business networks and taking a 'Taste of Queensland' home to your customers.

Skybury Farms

Skybury Farms was established in 1987 by founders Ian and Marion MacLaughlin and has a rich history in the Australian coffee industry and now takes its place as a leader in the tropical fruit category.

Skybury was the first plantation to introduce the larger sweet red papaya into commercial production in Australia; now producing over eight million pieces of fruit per annum and supplying 50% of all papaya consumed in Australia.

The farm is now home to three generations, with Candy and brother Mark both returning to raise their children and continue to drive business forward.

The MacLaughlin family strives for excellence, balancing agricultural output with sustainable farming to produce the highest quality tasting tropical fruit and coffee in Australia.

Using innovation to find long-term solutions to excess production has led the family to develop a range of value-add products such as papaya jam and papaya seed oil.
